FOREWORD

I must down to the seas again, to the lonely sea and the sky,
And all I ask is a tall ship and a star to steer her by,
And the wheel's kick and the wind's song and the white sail's shaking.
And a grey mist on the sea's face and a grey dawn breaking.—John Masefield.

Ships and the sea! What glorious things they suggest! Adventure; pirates and ill-gotten gold; clipper ships and south sea atolls; tramp steamers and typhoons; the pioneer spirit which has driven men to the four corners of the earth in search of the new and unknown. All this the editors of the 1931 Chinook have sought to portray, to the end that this book may inspire a continuation of the spirit of the "men who go down to the sea in ships".

In acknowledgment of his untiring service, we, the Chinook Staff of 1931, gratefully dedicate this book to Robert E. Albright. His genuine interest and helpful suggestions as business adviser have inspired us to success.

Loyalty is the fine ideal which looks out from the pages of the Chinook. To College, to class, to staff you have been true. May loyalty ever serve.

Sheldon E. Davis
President.

Melvin A. Brannon, Chancellor

“Promise less than you can perform, but perform never less than you promise.”

Angeline Smith, Dean of Women

May these pages, like ancient ships laden with golden treasure, bear into the years a treasure of golden memories of precious friendships.

*Thy towers stretching upward
Lead on to lofty thought,
Bright hopes for the future,
And ideals forever sought.*

*Leafy trees and bending branches
Shade a walk of grace,
Countless footsteps hurry to the dorm—
A grand, a somber-looking place.*

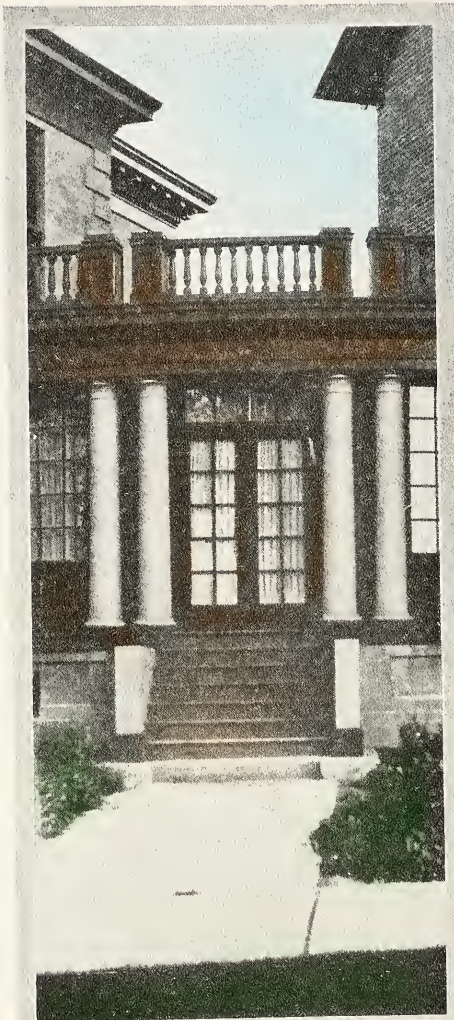

*An old brick structure---tall pillars
Rounding entrance---greeting all.
Happy home of joy and content
Answering to each student's call.*

*Quiet stream passing on with time
Shimmering water---shady nook,
One and all with campus scenes
A fitting picture for our book.*

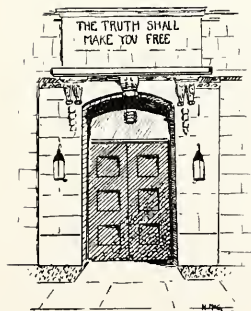

*A sunny parlor---tall glass doors
Connecting link for "middle" and
"new."*

Hours of gladness---time well spent---

Friendships made---well tried and true.

*Thy spires reaching skyward
Inspire to better things---
Faith both in the college
And what the future brings.*

The College Song

Thy towers stretching upward
 Guide us on our way;
Thy green lawns rolling outward
 Hold us throughout the day.
Each memory brings a thrill
 Of golden days upon the hill,
Of Montana's fairest valley,
 Where our hearts must always rally.

Normal College, here's to you,
For to you we'll all be true.
Though we're far away at work or play
We shall keep our colors flying still for you
So onward through the years we go,
And no one dares to tell us no,
For we're bringing to fame, that dear old name—
Normal College, here's to you.

Seniors

The Seniors, at the end of a two years' cruise, have piloted their ship into harbor full of rich treasures and bountiful spoils. Their quest for knowledge has led them through days of danger and troublesome seas, but they have pressed forward with admirable courage, and at last they have successfully plundered the Montana State Normal College of its valuable store.

Juniors

Led by four strong plunderers the Junior buccaneering ship, in the fall of 1930, boldly invaded the Normal College and for three quarters besieged every stronghold and pillaged the wealth of precious intellectuality. They left no treasure cove unexplored. No hide-out missed the force of their avaricious enthusiasm.

The daring and venturesome spirit with which they have piloted this Junior scull predicts a year of even more bountiful conquest on the good ship "Seniors."

House Council

The Residence Halls have a governing body called the House Council. One president is chosen for the year. Each dormitory chooses a vice-president. Two girls from each floor in each dormitory are elected. These girls with the president and vice-presidents plan the social calendar of the year.

Student Activity Fund Committee

Montana State Normal College students pay four dollars a quarter to the Student Activity Fund. This money is apportioned by a committee consisting of three faculty members appointed by President Davis and three representatives elected from each class. The committee finances entertainments, the year's issue of The Montanomal, the whitewashing of the "M" on the hill, and the May Fete. The activity fund makes it possible for students to attend worth while attractions at the College for less than they would have to pay were they to purchase tickets for each event at the usual price.

The committee is to be commended this year on the fine entertainments it has presented to the students. Attractions varied and enjoyable to all were presented: Dr. Pillsbury's Scientific Lecture and the Ross Reed Concert were the attractions presented the fall quarter. The winter quarter the students were privileged to hear the famous Fiske Jubilee Singers and enjoy the unique program of the Russian dancer, Sali Lobel. Also during the winter quarter there were four basketball games and John Galsworthy's Old English portrayed by George Arliss in a talking picture at the local theater.

The faculty members of the committee are: Mr. McBain, chairman, Miss Albertson, and Miss Smith. The student members are: Elizabeth Hopkins, secretary, Lois Sederholm, and Leo Musburger, of the Senior Class; and Marion Benson, Elizabeth Ballard, and Mervyn McKenzie, of the Junior Class.

The Chinook

One of the first Senior class meetings in the fall of every year is held for the purpose of electing class members to edit and publish the Chinook. The most competent members are elected to fill the places of editors, for "putting out" the Chinook is considered one of the most difficult tasks that the Seniors attempt.

Later in the quarter an art contest is held. The Chinook staff judges sample work of the competing artists. The most artistic person is elected for art editor.

Booster Club vaudeville night is sponsored by the Chinook staff in order to raise money to publish the annual.

Each year the Chinook is looked forward to with greater delight, and each year the Chinook staff works harder to make a better annual.

The Montanomal

The Montanomal is the student weekly paper. It was founded in 1924. The purpose of this publication is to keep students in touch with the activities of the College. It is distributed every Wednesday morning in the main hall. Copies are sent to business men of the town, who lend support through advertising; and exchanges are made with a number of college and high school publications.

Each year the Montanomal has improved. This year for the first time it was entered in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association contest. The Chanticleer Club submitted eleven copies of autumn quarter numbers to be judged. Among student publications from other teachers' colleges and normal schools the Montanomal was awarded third place. Certain standards must be met by papers for classification in first, second, or third ranking. The Montanomal was the only paper from a two-year teachers' institution which was given recognition.

The highest standards of journalism possible are maintained in the publication of the Montanomal. The staff is composed of the journalism class and members of the Chanticleer Club with Genevieve Albertson as sponsor.

The Normal College Index

The Normal College Index is a monthly publication for teachers. Its purpose is "to help teachers teach." Professional articles by Normal College faculty members and teachers especially qualified for their work are written for teachers in the state. Questions, news items, and suggestions are submitted by alumni and teachers.

Each year there are several special numbers. The numbers for the year 1930-31 are: November, General Education Number; December, Self-Improvement; January, Primary; February, Elementary Grades; March, Speech; April, High School; May, Summer School; June, Commencement; July and August, General Education Numbers.

The Normal College Index is sent out to Montana teachers. Letters from these teachers prove that the Index is accomplishing its purpose. Each Normal College student also receives a copy.

This year began the eleventh volume of the Index. The journalism class each quarter is the Index staff, under the supervision of Miss Albertson, the faculty editor.

Debate

The debaters showed a great deal of enthusiasm and interest during the season of 1931. They were strongly supported by the students and faculty. The debating question was one of world-wide interest: "Resolved, That the nations should adopt the policy of free trade."

Aileen Brady and Gertrude Conwell of the affirmative team represented the Montana State Normal College February 19, in the first debate of the season against the negative debaters from Bozeman. It was a non-decision debate.

On February 26, a split team debate was held in Dillon. Aileen Brady of the affirmative team with her colleague from Billings won the debate two to one from her opponent, Ruth Jones, and her colleague from Billings.

Ruth Jones and Evelyn Adams of the negative team met the State University in Missoula. The decision was in favor of the University.

The men's negative team, consisting of Joseph Murphy, Harmon Graeter, and Clifford Laity, met the School of Mines in Butte, and although it was a non-decision debate, the team more than upheld the traditional debating success of the Montana State Normal College.

Debate letters were awarded to the members of the debate teams. This is the sixth season Mr. Albright has successfully coached the Normal College debate teams.

Gargoyles

The Gargoyles, a dramatic club which had a very humble beginning in 1922, has grown with the College, and, although it began with only a few members, it is now one of the leading organizations on the campus. The work is divided into three departments—acting, stage, and business. Many students try out in these departments each quarter.

Students who have been outstanding in dramatic work are eligible to membership in the Order of the Jeweled Masque, an honorary society within the club, and they are awarded a jeweled club pin. Those who gained such distinction during the past year were: Almer Halverson, Hellen Dean, and Albert Comer. The last two were not initiated until the spring quarter.

In 1929 the Gargoyles were granted a local chapter in Delta Psi Omega, a national dramatic fraternity for junior colleges.

Skidding

"SKIDDING," a three-act comedy, written by Auronia Rouvenal, was presented by the Gargoyles, Friday evening, December 12.

Miss Savidge, director, was assisted by Clarice Fabrick; Mary Louise Taylor, stage-manager; Albert Comer, business manager; Elizabeth Williams and Evelyn Mikkelsen, property managers.

At this time the College Little Symphony Orchestra, directed by Miss Frances Robinson, made its first appearance. Several delightful numbers were presented between acts.

The Cast: Judge Hardy, William Anderson; Mrs. Hardy, Alberta Shepherd; Marion Hardy, Barbara Tower; Wayne Trenton, John Vanderark; Andrew Hardy, Leo Musburger; Estelle Hardy, Anna Mautz; Myra Hardy, Lucile Scallon; Aunt Milly, Elizabeth Hopkins; Grandpa Hardy, Albert Comer; Oscar Stubbins, Almer Halverson.

1931

The Wonder Hat

"The Wonder Hat," presented by the Gargoyles at the Booster Club Vaudeville, is a very clever fantasy which reveals the conflicting attempts of Columbine and Harlequin to win each other's love by means of a wonder hat and a magic slipper. The parts of Harlequin and Columbine were taken by Leo Musburger and Harriett Canavan. Eileen Raymond, Harmon Graeter, and Albert Comer made up the supporting cast.

Gargoyle Comedy Night

"The Florist Shop"—The scene is laid in the florist shop of a Jewish proprietor. It is comedy revealing the emotions, that go with each bouquet, in the lives of those who patronize the florist shop. The cast: Henry, Claude Yates; Maude, Martha Marie Frost; Mr. Slovisky, Bill Anderson; Miss Wells, Mary Louise Taylor; Mr. Jackson, Albert Comer.

"Elmer"—It is a domestic comedy of trivial conflicts between the brothers and sisters. Elmer keeps peace in the family by playing burglar. The cast: Elmer, Leo Musburger; Susan, Harriett Canavan; Janie, Anna Mantz; Jeanie, Hellen Dean; Mrs. Collier, Evelyn Fairbank; Miss Pinney, Clarice Fabrick; Fannie Bell, Beulah Maybee; Hubert, Shirley Callahan; Russell, Claude Yates.

"The Crimson Cocoanut"—The scene is laid in an English restaurant. Through the efforts of the waiter and the detective two anarchists who are plotting to use a bomb, the "Crimson Cocoanut," are brought to justice, and the waiter and detective achieve their heart's desire. The cast: Robert, the waiter, Barry Caskin; Mr. Pincher, the detective, Louis Sommers; Nancy, Jane Herndon; Mr. Gliserinski, Bill Wolverson; Madam Gliserinski, Elizabeth Hopkins; Mr. Jabstick, Harmon Graeter.

The Chanticleer Club

The primary purpose of the Chanticleer Club is to foster an interest in journalism and to work toward the maintenance of a high standard among its members. An important function of the club is to assist in the publication of the Montanomal, the weekly newspaper of the College.

Organized in 1928, the Chanticleer Club has grown steadily in strength and importance among the campus organizations.

Within the club is an honor society, the Matrix, membership in which is granted to members of the club who have achieved special prominence in journalistic work.

The officers of the Chanticleer Club for the present year are:

The Young Women's Christian Association

Because its membership is open to all college women, the Young Women's Christian Association is one of the most popular organizations on the campus. It has the largest membership and some of the highest ideals of any club at the College.

The Y. W. C. A. is a national organization and is therefore usually fortunate in being able to obtain a nationally known speaker.

A "Shipwreck Party" the fall quarter is the most outstanding social activity sponsored by this organization. The Christmas program is also given by the Y. W. C. A.

Kappa Zeta Nu

In 1905 the women of the Senior class organized the Kappa Zeta Nu sorority at the Montana State Normal College for the purpose of broadening their general culture through social contact. The sorority which has tried to maintain its ideals through the years is one of the most prominent social organizations on the campus. Its greatest aim during the past year has been to develop a more friendly spirit among the College women of M. S. N. C. and to help them become better acquainted. Members are admitted into the sorority during the autumn and spring quarters. Candidates must have completed two successful successive quarters in order to be eligible for membership. Two formal dances are given for the pledges each year.

A "Kid Party" for all College women, the Red Cross Membership Drive, and the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal Campaign were sponsored by Kappa Zeta Nu during the fall and winter quarters.

Women's Athletic Association

The Women's Athletic Association is considered the pep society on the campus of the Montana State Normal College.

To become a member of this organization one must earn one hundred points. Points are made by membership on various teams, by hiking, or by having perfect attendance in gymnasium classes. When five hundred points are earned, a small "M" emblem is awarded; a large "M" is awarded a member receiving eight hundred points. Members of varsity teams are awarded class numerals.

Besides being active in athletics, the W. A. A. is known as one of the most active social organizations on the campus.

The traditional May Fete is sponsored by the W. A. A. members who put forth their best efforts each spring to produce a beautiful fete.

They are well rewarded for their work when, with jollity and pep, they celebrate the athletic accomplishments of the year with a trip to Elkhorn Springs.

The Montana State Normal College organization of the W. A. A. is affiliated with the national organization of the Athletic Conference of American College Women.

Women's Glee Club

Harry Lauder says in a little song he has written:

“It's a fine thing to sing;
Singin' is the thing:
It brightens everything that's dark and dreary.
It helps along the road
When you have a heavy load
Singin' is the thing that keeps you cheery.”

“So say we all of us,” proclaim the Glee Club girls. And so they sing.

The Women's Glee Club under the direction of Miss Mira Booth is composed of sixteen young women chosen because of special vocal ability. They aim in their work to interpret artistically standard compositions.

This year has been one more successful one to add to the record of the club. The girls enjoyed assisting in musical programs at several of the church services. As in the past they sang at assembly and commencement programs. They sang at the Booster Club Vaudeville and took a leading part in the music department stunt, “Sweethearts.” At another time they assisted the Boy Scouts of Dillon in an entertainment at the Training School.

The girls sing when they sing and play when they play. Therefore, they played most heartily at early morning picnics each quarter.

Members of the Glee Club

Elizabeth Hopkins was chosen in the winter quarter to fill the vacancy left by Josephine Hayes. Lois Sederholm, Dorothy Sherman, Virginia Randolph, and Eileen Richardson were chosen to fill the vacancies left by June Emerson, Vivian Tordsen, Mary Barkenbus, and Ina West,—March Graduates.

The Mixed Quartette

The Mixed Quartette was organized for the first time at the Montana State Normal College in the fall quarter of 1930. June Emerson, soprano, and Fred Gray, tenor, were Seniors. The two Junior members were Virginia Randolph, alto, and John Vanderark, bass.

The quartette very successfully made its first public appearance at the Armistice Day Program held at the Training School. After that time the members sang at several assemblies. One of their outstanding appearances was at the American Legion Minstrel Show. They were included in the stunt from the music department Vaudeville Night. They sang for the Rotarians at a dinner given in the dormitory dining room. Their last appearance was at the Commencement Exercises for the winter quarter.

Miss Booth is the instructor and director of this quartette.

The Men's Chorus

The Men's Chorus made its first appearance at the Montana State Normal College in the fall of 1930. Richard Hogan and Fred Gray were the only two who had been members of last year's quartette, although all the boys had some previous experience.

The Men's Chorus entertained the students and faculty at several assemblies. It had a part on the program at the Booster Club Vaudeville.

Members of the chorus are: Fred Gray and Richard Hogan, first tenor; Ransom Cosper and Louis Sommers, second tenor; William Anderson and Harmon Graeter, baritone; William Wolverton and Barney Walter, bass.

The "M" Club

The "M" Club was organized in 1925 and has been a great benefit and source of enjoyment to the men of the College who have met its requirements in major sports. Its main objectives are to promote good clean athletics and to encourage a strong school spirit.

The "M" Club sponsored two dances this season. The basketball tournament, also sponsored by the club, caused a great deal of excitement and enthusiasm among the student body. The Seniors were successful in outplaying the Juniors and carried away the honors.

The men's club room is a very attractive and pleasant meeting place for all men students. Pictures of teams and members of the club have been placed on the walls of the room, and it has been completely renovated.

Booster Club Vaudeville

The Booster Club Vaudeville, which was held January 30, aroused considerable interest on the campus. Each society and organization presented a stunt. All gave evidence of careful selection and preparation. The audience voted the Y. W. C. A. stunt as the best. It portrayed the life of College girls in the dormitory. The Junior stunt, a military drill by seven boys and seven girls, was judged second best.

The Chanticleer news "boys" sold the "Noseitall" to those who wished to know the latest College scandal.

Ups and Downs of Dormitory Life

This year the Y. W. C. A. stunt won first place in the annual vaudeville night, January 30. As a result the Y. W. C. A. organization was given a page in the Chinook free.

The stunt, directed by Clarice Fabrick, was called "Ups and Downs of Dormitory Life." It depicted a humorous, yet true-to-life, version of dormitory life as seen by Evelyn Barter, Bernice Carkeet, Ellen Jenkins, Mary Louise Taylor, Kathleen Bownes, and Martha Frost.

The girls, dressed in pajamas, came to a room, presumably to study, but instead they gossiped, sang, disobeyed rules, and planned a feast. The play closed with the girls becoming sleepy and singing goodnight.

The stage setting was a typical dormitory room with its background of pennants and pictures.

Juniors' Drill

"Boom! Boom! Left, right, march" accompanied the appearance of a well-trained group, the Juniors, in smart military uniforms.

The stunt, directed by Miss Constance Blegan, was called the "Juniors' Drill." Since the Juniors proved to be such an excellent and well-dressed drill team, they won second place at the Booster Club Vaudeville and were awarded a page in the Chinook.

The local unit of the Montana State Normal College Alumni Association is divided into two groups for social purposes. Each division has at its head a vice-president and the whole group has a president and secretary-treasurer.

The great achievement of the organization this year has been to increase the Alumni Loan Fund, which was established in 1916.

During the year an alumni directory was published by the Normal College.

Football

"Hello, Coach, what are the prospects for a football team this fall?" asked Almer Halverson on September 29.

"Prospects are fine," replied Coach Moe. "With yourself, George, Magnus, Duane, and Leo back fighting for the Montana State Normal College, things look encouraging for a successful year. We will have a number of new men with experience as well. Did you see Joe, Al, Dick and Harry? They are back again and look as if they are in first-class condition."

At four o'clock on the following Monday suits were issued to twenty-four Bulldogs, all determined to make the squad and to have the honor of wearing the large blood-orange "M" which is earned by participation in half the quarters played, by a recommendation of the coach, and by meeting approval of the "M" Club.

"Do you think you will earn a letter this year, George?" asked Hal.

"I'm not so sure," replied George. "They say Medsker, Hogan, and Beaudry are three dandy linemen."

CHINOOK

Punting, passing, blocking, and tackling characterized the practice for the first week. "Manager! Manager! Manager!" "Where are Roy and Albert?" This could be heard around the gym more or less the entire season, but more than usual during the first week of practice. "Charley horses," bad knees, bruised ankles, and dislocated shoulders were numerous.

On Monday, October 6, Coach Moe announced that the first game would be with the Vikings from Rexburg, Idaho, on the following Monday, in Dillon.

"Remember how they passed their way to victory last year?" said Leo in the dressing room that evening.

"Yes, but they won't do it this year," was the firm reply from Magnus.

The remainder of the week was spent on signal practice. By the end of the week the team was in fairly good condition, not "good," because several injuries were apparent.

It was a hard-fighting group of Bulldogs that Coach Moe sent out upon the gridiron to battle with the Vikings, but a bad pass from center paved the way for a scoring spree for Rexburg. The defensive work of the Normal line and the passing attack used by Ricks were the highlights of the game. The final whistle saw the score standing at 20-0 in favor of the visitors. Captain George

Dover played an excellent defensive game, with Callahan teaming up well with him on end.

"Too bad, Callahan, old man. You certainly played a fine game, but that knee looks as if you will be out for the season," said his team mate, Al Taft, after the game. Al was right. Callahan's services were lost to the Bulldogs, but a fighting wingman was still available with Al Taft on the squad.

Three days were taken to recuperate; then the Bulldogs went to Bozeman to play the Montana State College freshmen. The Bulldogs received a clawing from the Kittens. The Frosh squad's hesitation plays, cutbacks, and spinners proved fatal to the Bulldog aggregation. At the end of the game there were four of the Bulldog regulars on the bench from injuries.

Dressing room conversation: "Forget the game and let's go to Butte to see the Bobcat-Grizzly game." "How will we go?" "Roy's brother has a car." "I am going with the coach in the morning," and so on, until the cafe was in sight. The tune then shifted to "How much can we have to eat on, Coach?"

Monday, October 20, saw the squad drilling with more plays to use against the Crusaders from Billings Polytechnic Institute. On October 25, mud-cleats, speed, skill and teamwork spelled defeat for the Bulldogs. Wilford Poppie, a former Bulldog, was the main cog in the Crusaders' attack.

The next week-end the gridiron squad from M. S. N. C. played a night game with the University of Idaho, Southern Branch, at Pocatello, Idaho. The Normal College team is credited with being the first Montana team to play under flood lights. It was

CHINOOK

"Moonlight and Roses" for the pedagogues. Lack of confidence and lack of teamwork were the team's millstone. The heavier, more experienced University squad was the victor.

"Who was the fellow with the white sweat shirt, Joe?" asked Fox after the game.

"I don't know," replied Joe, "but if I could have got my hands on him he wouldn't be any more."

Dahlman's comment after the game was, "I'm sure it was a night game all right, because I saw plenty of stars."

With another week of practice the team was in readiness for the Miners from Butte. "Sleepers" gave the Mines an early lead that the Bulldogs could not overcome. Each and every wearer of the Orange and Black can be credited with having played a hard and willing game. Ernie Roberts, the diminutive utility back, broke a bone in his ankle during the last few minutes of play.

Without another practice the Panthers of Intermountain Union College were played in Helena on Armistice Day. It was a very loosely played game with the Bulldog linemen tackling the Intermountain ball toters back of their line of scrimmage again and again. The Bulldog offensive, led by Halverson, penetrated the Panther line at will. Several fumbles and intercepted passes turned the game into Intermountain's favor.

"Whoopee, the season is over!" exclaimed McKenzie when the dressing room had been reached.

"How many 'M's' have you earned, Henneberry?" asked Cosper.

"Two."

"Fifteen for our coach, captain and manager!" said Sommers when every one was aboard the train.

Fifteen loud cheers were given for the worthy and capable mentor of the Bulldogs, O. K. Moe. Captain George Dover received a big ovation from the squad for his good generalship and persistent fighting spirit. The faithful and efficient manager, Roy Crossman, was then given fifteen "rahs."

The following day the football suits were stacked away until the season of 1931, and that same evening the "M" Club voted to award twenty football letters.

Almer Halverson of Three Forks, tackle and fullback, who had been a regular Bulldog for three seasons, was given the honor of wearing three sleeve stripes.

The other men receiving letters were:

- *Captain George Dover, Buffalo, left tackle.
- *Magnus Aasheim, Reserve, right half back.
- *Duane Taft, Great Falls, center.
- *Ambrose Henneberry, Dillon, reserve half back.
- *Leo Musburger, Billings, quarter back.
- Joseph Murphy, Jordan, left half back.
- Richard Hogan, Great Falls, right guard.
- Alfred Taft, Great Falls, right end.
- Shirley Callahan, Three Forks, left end.
- Rolland Beaudry, Bainville, left guard.
- Dale Medsker, Dillon, right tackle.
- Ernest Roberts, Dixon, utility back.
- Kirkwood Fox, Dillon, reserve center.
- Harry Brost, Fallon, reserve end.
- Arthur Dahlman, Power, reserve guard.
- Merwyn McKenzie, Richey, reserve tackle.
- Ransom Cosper, Outlook, reserve half back.
- Louis Sommers, Deer Lodge, reserve half back.
- Roy Crossman, Hall, was awarded the manager letter.

The graduating Seniors leave their togs and wishes for a successful gridiron season for the squad of 1931.

1931 M. S. N. C. Basketball Season

On Tuesday, November 25, Coach O. K. Moe sat in the College gymnasium balcony and watched some of the material he was to use in building a strong cage team for M. S. N. C. The occasion was the annual "M" Club tournament.

"I can see only two lettermen," said Coach Moe. "Halverson, the veteran guard, is piloting the Seniors, and Ernie Roberts (later elected captain) is walking around on crutches hoping that the Seniors are victorious."

Medsker said before the game, "Watch the Juniors take the Seniors into camp."

He was right; with "Eagle Eye" Callahan from Three Forks swarming the basket with shots, the Juniors tramped over the hard fighting Senior first team. The second team game was a reverse of the first with the more experienced Senior squad swamping the Junior midgets.

"Good material there," said the Coach after the game.

"Our first game is with the Daly-Shea Independent team from Butte," reported the Coach in the dressing room a few nights later.

CHINOOK

"What kind of a team have they?" asked Vanderark.

"They have a fast, clever, clicking outfit," was Ernie Roberts' reply.

On Wednesday, December 10, the headlines of the Montanomal read: Bulldogs Win First Basketball Game 63-36. Coach Moe used eleven Bulldogs in smothering the Daly-Shea's from Butte. Every man played "bang up" ball, with Callahan leading the offense.

The following Saturday saw the Bulldogs playing the Butte Montana Hardware Independent team. These boys were the state "champs" last year, and again this year. It was a close game featuring close guarding. When the smoke cleared at the end, the score stood 28-15 in favor of the Hardware. No other team in the state had played them a better game than the M. S. N. C. team, so with a few weeks' practice and a few new men coming in, the Bulldogs were to have a victorious squad.

"Whom do you suppose I saw a few minutes ago?"

Jenkins and Price were also lettermen from the '30 squad.

"A man will surely have to play some ball now to make the squad," was Ypma's comment.

With one week of practice the Coach took his rejuvenated squad to Helena to even matters with the Panthers. The fast breaking, close-checking Bulldogs were too much for the Panthers to overcome. It was the fast blonde boy, Nelson, that put the Bulldogs on top with points in time to see the score end 23-22 in favor of M. S. N. C.

We know we had a good squad, but we have to reckon with the week when we played a two-game series with Ricks College from asked Halverson on the third.

"I know," replied Ernie, "Hal-lie Pasley, or Howard Jenkins."

"Yes, I saw both, and I was talking to Harold Price, too, and he is coming back."

Pasley was a two letterman from the College, and the leading offense man from the '30 squad.

CHINOOK

The game ended 38-29 in favor of M. S. N. C. Captain Roberts, Pasley and D. Taft did some very clever guarding in order to keep the Crusader forwards checked.

The next night the same school was played, but the tables turned. The Crusaders won by a 27-22 score.

The final game in

"We must beat them worse than that when they come over here," said Manager Einar Aasheim to the squad.

The fighting Bulldogs obeyed their manager, and on the following Wednesday the Eastern Montana Normal squad was trounced 58-27. Every Bulldog did his share, with ten members of the squad administering to the Billings school defeat. Callahan headed the offense by scoring more than the entire Billings squad. Who kept Billings from scoring? Simple! It was Captain Roberts, Pasley, Medsker, Price, Ypma, Jenkins, Halver-son, Nelson, Ashley Roberts, and Vanderark.

Rexburg, Idaho. The different style of play bewildered the Bulldogs, and in the Saturday night game the Vikings were victorious by a 56-23 score. On Monday night it looked as if the Bulldogs had solved the visitors' defense, because the score was very close at the end of the first half; then the final gun saw the score 42-18 in favor of Ricks.

"Now for these Billings schools," said Medsker after the Ricks game.

On Thursday of the same week the Normal cage squad met the Billings Crusaders on the floor of the latter. The Normal quint took a comfortable lead and was never threatened.

Billings for the Bulldogs was with E. M. S. N. C. The Bulldogs were pushed to their limit, in overcoming their "brother" school 39-35. Nelson, the fleet footed forward, made a last-minute rally to push the tally sheet in favor of M. S. N. C.

home gym. The rangy and fast Idaho quint won both games, the first by a score of 40-24 and the second by 51-30.

The Bulldogs finished the season by playing a two-game series with the Idaho school in Pocatello, Idaho, the next week. The first game looked as if it were a victory

The Normal College Conference record for 1931 stands: seven victories, one defeat, scored 230 points to opponents' 175, percentage 875.

Hallie Pasley, Bulldog guard, was chosen utility man on the first Junior College Conference team and was judged the best all-around man playing in the conference this year.

Dale Medsker, Bulldog center, was chosen a guard on the first all Junior College team; Gayle Nelson and Shirley Callahan, Bulldog forwards, were chosen forwards on the second all Junior College squad.

The Wednesday, February 18, 1931, Montanomal headlines read as follows: Bulldogs Defeat Panthers to Retain Junior College Lead. The Bulldogs measured Intermountain with a 44-34 score. Captain Roberts played his regular consistent game and kept his mates working well. This was sufficient proof that the Montana State Normal College quint was Junior College Champion. The only team not played was Butte Mines, and Intermountain had beaten it. This was the fifth conference victory against one defeat.

On February 19 and 20 the Bulldogs played the University of Southern Idaho, in the for M. S. N. C. but a last minute rally put the Idaho quint ahead, and the score stood 36-29. Medsker, Bulldog center, must be credited with playing a great defensive game.

The Idaho Tigers won the next night by a score of 41-24. Every Bulldog fought to the end with Captain Roberts ably piloting.

CHINOOK

Much credit is due Coach O. K. Moe and Manager Einar Aasheim in heading such a successful squad as was produced during the season of '31.

The following men played a sufficient number of halves to get "M's":

*Captain Ernie Roberts.....	Dixon, guard
*Hallie Pasley.....	Ennis, guard
Dale Medsker.....	Dillon, center
Gayle Nelson.....	Ennis, forward
Shirley Callahan.....	Three Forks, forward
*Almer Halverson.....	Three Forks, sub guard
*Harold Price.....	Dillon, sub guard
*Howard Jenkins.....	Noxon, sub forward
Duane Taft.....	Great Falls, sub center
Frank Ypma.....	Manhattan, sub guard
John Vanderark.....	Manhattan, sub forward

Einar Aasheim, Reserve, was awarded the manager letter.

1930 M. S. N. C. Track Season

The College had two lettermen back from the '29 squad, Captain Poppie, the javelin thrower, and Joe Persha, a high jumper. Persha did not go out for the '30 squad. The inter-class track meet brought out much promising material. The Junior class won the meet with Howard Jenkins carrying away the most points. After the meet, Captain Poppie drilled on the javelin throw, Howard Jenkins worked on the high and low hurdles, Roy Crossman paced the half mile, Tom Case sprinted the 440-yard run, and Ernie Roberts could be seen breezing down the 100- and 220-yard lanes. Coach Moe took the above squad to Missoula for the inter-college track meet. They made a splendid showing for M. S. N. C. Captain Poppie placed second in the javelin throw and secured enough points to place the College third in the total number of points. The School of Mines, Intermountain College, and Billings Polytechnic ranked after the Montana State Normal College. Howard Jenkins, the M. S. N. C. hurdler, had the misfortune to hit his last hurdle in the low hurdle race, which made him lose what was an easy second for him.

The "M" Club awarded the following men letters: Captain Poppie, Corvallis, also the honor of wearing two sleeve stripes; Howard Jenkins, Noxon; Roy Crossman, Hall; Tom Case, Kalispell; Ernie Roberts, Dixon; Kenneth Kins, Rexford, was awarded the manager letter.

Coach Moe developed a fine squad which leaves its best wishes for success to the cinder squad of '31.

Hockey

Interest in hockey seemed to lag somewhat this year. This was probably due to the early fall snows which prevented regular practice. The Senior girls turned out in greater numbers than did the Junior girls.

The annual tournament between the Juniors and Seniors for the inter-class championship was prevented by the weather. Since soccer was substituted for hockey during the latter part of the season, the teams were chosen on a basis of the players' ability and number of times out for practice in both hockey and soccer.

Swimming

Swimming can be enjoyed by College men and women, and Dillon residents, at all seasons of the year. A swimming schedule is made out to accommodate the citizens of Dillon as well as the College students. A life guard must always be present before any one is allowed to enter the pool. 1930-31 life guards were Winifred Egan and Bonnie Bovee.

Baseball

Baseball is one of the athletic attractions for women students during the spring quarter. Last season interest and enthusiasm were shown by the large number of turn-outs.

The 1930 championship tournament was won by the Seniors, who took two games out of a three-game series. The usual inter-dorm games were not played.

Tennis

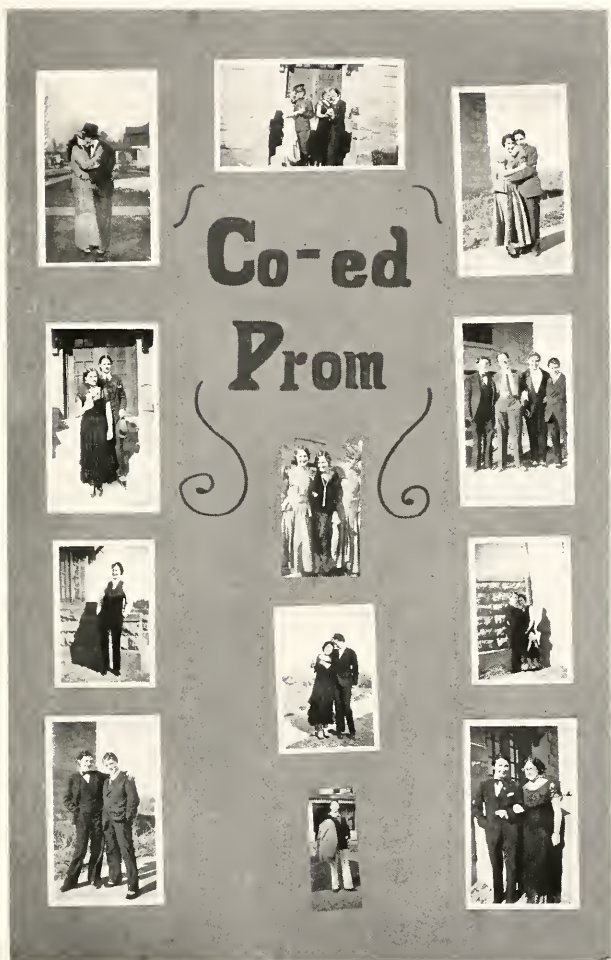

Tennis was not at all neglected last season. Players occupied the four courts at all hours of the day during the spring months.

Among the Seniors, Gertrude Waller succeeded in winning the singles championship, while Margaret Barner and Clyta Cusker were victors in the doubles contest.

Lois Sederholm captured first place in the Junior singles tournament, and doubles champions were Erceldean Heikkila and Evelyn Adams. All-College single champion was Gertrude Waller. Margaret Barner and Clyta Cusker were all-College doubles champions.

Campus Life

Co-Ed Prom

"Yo Oh, Make way for the captains and their crew."

The captains were fine young gentlemen escorting young ladies to the Recreation Hall. On Friday night, February twenty-seventh, the traditional Co-Ed Prom at the Montana State Normal College was held. Excited girls, handsome men, and parlor calls prevailed in the dormitories during the early part of the evening. At nine o'clock the couples assembled for the grand march in the Recreation Hall. Jane Redpath received the prize for the most beautiful girl and Mr. Eileen Raymond the prize for the most handsome man. Prizes for the best waltzers were given to Miss Pearl Hansen and Mr. Helen Hayes. Miss Evelyn McKenzie and Mr. Gladys Whitlatch won the prizes for the best fox trotters.

Favors consisting of autograph albums for the girls and horns for the boys were distributed. Later in the evening eight couples danced a minuet. At the stroke of midnight the captains and their crew, remembering the Co-Ed Prom as the most successful landing, journeyed to their good ship, "Slumber-Land."

The Annual Reception

What is more pleasant when returning to school than meeting your old friends and making new friends? On Friday, October 3, the new students were presented to members of the faculty at the Dean's annual reception. After this presentation every one went to the Recreation Hall to attend the program and dancing. The program consisted of piano solos by Miss Helen Ballard and violin solos by Miss Robinson. Dr. Davis in a brief address welcomed the new and old students and members of the faculty.

Gargoyle Banquet

"Sh-h-h, the curtain rises!"

That is the thought which runs through the minds of the audience as the curtain rises on a program presented by the Gargoyle Club.

On March 13 the curtain rose on the Gargoyle formal initiation and banquet at the Episcopal Guild Hall. Miss Carson was toastmistress. The speakers used titles of recent Broadway play production as the themes for their speeches. Barbara Tower welcomed the new members under the title "Green Pastures." Ward McVay responded to the welcome for the pledges with "Green Grow the Lilies." Miss Savidge spoke on "Tomorrow and Tomorrow" and Mr. Clark spoke on "Petticoat Influence." Miss Ballard presented a piano selection. The members of the girls' quartette sang.

After the banquet the President, Barbara Tower, officiated at the initiation ceremony which admitted six members. Following this initiation ceremony Almer Halverson was initiated into the Order of the Jeweled Masque. Miss Savidge took charge of this initiation. The rest of the evening was devoted to dancing.

An informal initiation was held November 15 at which nine members were admitted. After the ceremony a delicious lunch was served, followed by an impromptu program of dancing and music.

Chanticleer Activities

The Chanticleer Club held many social gatherings during the year. In the autumn quarter the Chanticleers were entertained at the home of President and Mrs. Davis, where they were served a delicious buffet supper, which was followed by the formal initiation of the pledges. At a regular meeting in the winter quarter a special Matrix initiation was held for Vernon Shanley, who did not return the spring quarter. On March 28 a formal banquet was held at Hanson's Cafe. Mr. Clark was the toastmaster. Dr. and Mrs. Davis and Miss Booth were guests of the club. Following the banquet eleven pledges were initiated into the club, and seven members were initiated into Matrix, the honorary society within the club. The club activities closed with the annual spring picnic.

Shipwreck Party

"All hands on deck! Heave Ho! The boat's sinking! Make way for the life boats!"

Such were the cries heard when the Young Women's Christian Association gave the Shipwreck Party on November 14. Costumes of every kind were seen as the couples took part in the grand march. In spite of the difficulty of making a choice, the judges gave their decision to Frances Bowen for the best costume, to Helen Hays for the funniest, and to Genevieve Hamill for the most original.

A short program of dancing and singing was given. A group of girls pictured a shipwrecked party being rescued by a group of Y. W. C. A.'s. Cream puffs were served for refreshments. The rest of the evening was spent in dancing.

W. A. A. Mixer

The girls are coming—Yo-ho! Yo-ho! The revelry was the W. A. A. Mixer held Friday, October 24, and the members of the W. A. A. furnished a program of contest games, stunts, songs and dancing for their guests. The girls were divided into groups for the contest games. Prizes were given to the group winning the most contest games and for the best stunt.

Bonnie Bovee, president of the W. A. A.'s, explained the purpose and work of the organization. Songs had been composed and were sung by a group of W. A. A.'s. Doughnuts and apples were served as refreshments. Dancing completed the program.

Kappa Zeta Nu Dance

The Kappa Zeta Nu Sorority gave its autumn quarter dance at the Guild Hall, November 26. Alberta Shepherd, the president, led the grand march. The girls' favors were chiffon dance handkerchiefs; the boys' favors, pongee handkerchiefs. Smithy's orchestra furnished the music. Among the distinctive features of the dance were the grand march, the favor dance, and the moonlight waltz.

Another similar formal dance was given during the spring quarter.

"M" Club Dance

Again the martyrs to the Orange and Black lived up to their reputation by sponsoring two of the most popular dances of the season. The "Rec" hall was filled to overflowing, and in spite of the broken ribs and aching corns the crowd was free in expressing enthusiasm and in commending the "M" Club boys.

Kappa Zeta "Kid" Party

"We're telling all the little girls
Telling all the bigger girls
Just how happy we are
Yes, we're telling them
All about K. Z. N."

That's how the Kappa Zeta Nu Sorority told all the College women about themselves at a hilarious and thoroughly enjoyable "kid" party. Little "kids," big "kids," "cry babies," and "Fatimas" arrived to play with the sorority girls.

The prize for the nicest little boy was given to Ella Clausen and for the cutest little girl to Lucille Lockridge. Hershey bars, lolly-pops, animal cookies, and pink lemonade were served to the "children." An appropriate ending to the party came with the singing of:

"Now run along home
And jump into bed,
Say your prayers
And cover up your head
K. Z. N. says unto you
'You dream of us,
And we'll dream of you'."

Go Day

"Ship Ahoy, All Aboard!"

This time it was the students of Montana State Normal College all aboard for Cornell's pasture. It was November fifth and "Go Day." "Go Day" began with strenuous games of pom-pom-pull-away and baseball, all of which had the effect of creating hearty appetites, shown by the rush to join the long line waiting to get "eats." The rest of the eventful day was spent in taking pictures or in playing more baseball. Some, however, found it profitable to start home, remembering it as their first or last "Go Day."

"M" Day

Spring arrives, and brings with it "M" Day. Lessons, assignments, and worries are abandoned. All students take advantage of the traditional holiday set aside each spring for the repainting of our big "M" on the hill west of Dillon.

Students and faculty cast off their dignity and, attired in outing clothes, set forth. No one escapes without carrying a bucket of water to the whitewashers. Each one is profitably employed for the forenoon. The work is not in vain, however, because every one is rewarded by a delicious picnic lunch served under the supervision of Dean Smith.

Once again the "M" majestically adorns the mountain top for another year.

Hallowe'en Stunt Night

The spirit of Hallowe'en was symbolized by the traditional Hallowe'en Stunt Night. The evening was divided into two forms of entertainment. A program of stunts, representing practically every organization on the campus, was given in the early part of the evening. After this program every one congregated in the Recreation Hall to dance. A lively student orchestra furnished the music.

The May Fete

The annual spring May Fete, the theme of which was "Mother Goose May Day," was presented May 26, 1930. Alice in Wonderland discovered the May poles, throne, and the flowers. She danced around them until she became weary and was put to sleep by the sandman. Mother Goose and her family arrived to attend the crowning of the Queen of Hearts and King Cole. Soon the Queen of Hearts and Old King Cole resigned their high positions, and the Queen of May was crowned. Luella Morin of Redstone was crowned queen. Clyta Cusker of Wolf Point was maid of honor. The Senior attendants were Dorothy Langdorf, Marian Palmer, and Margaret Barner. The Junior attendants were Ina West, Hellen Dean, and Bonnie Bovee.

A great number of training school and Normal College students assisted in the presentation of "The Mother Goose May Day."

The May Fete was the outstanding feature of the spring quarter, not only because of the great number in the cast, but also because of the picturesque costuming and the College campus as a setting.

Pow Wow

Every year the Junior and Senior tribesmen hold a pow wow around a campfire. At this time the Seniors transfer their responsibilities to the Juniors from whom they exact a promise that the young warriors will carry on the traditions and customs which have been established.

The participants, dressed in Indian robes, dance around the campfire lighted by the medicine man. The Juniors prove their ability to take over the tribal leadership. They urge war but the Senior tribe, feeling it is no longer composed of young braves, consents to smoke the pipe of peace and moves on to a larger and more fertile field. When Juniors are admitted into the tribe, they acquire the Senior hunting grounds.

The College Sing

The College Sing, another memory of M. S. N. C., is held one evening during Senior week of the spring and summer quarters. It is a custom for Normal College students to join in song—old songs, new songs, and, of course, our own College Song. What is more inspiring than singing with the Seniors as they bid M. S. N. C. goodbye?

Candle-Light Procession

One of the most interesting events of Senior week during the spring and summer quarters takes place the night before Commencement. It is the candle-light procession.

Friends gather on the dormitory and College steps to watch the Seniors in caps and gowns march slowly across the campus. Each Senior carries a lighted candle which he hands to the Junior chosen to walk with him.

The still night, twinkling lights, and soft strains of "College Chums" are memories dear to those who witness this procession.

Commencement

Every student who enters Montana State Normal College dreams of Commencement day, the day when one realizes the ideals and aims for which he has striven during two of the most enjoyable years of his life. The ceremony with its processional of graduates about to begin their life's work, the invocation, the speaker's address which inspires to the higher things in life, and last the gathering in the library for congratulations, handclasps, and farewells—all help to make graduation day most impressive and long remembered.

TWO CROOKS AND A LADY

Summer Dramatics Club

A dramatics club was organized during the summer term known as the Summer Dramatics Club. Widespread interest among the students in this activity insured work of excellent quality.

During the summer the club presented "Two Crooks and a Lady" in a way that showed much study and excellent interpretation. Loraine Meusey, as an invalid, showed the superiority of intelligence in a crisis when she outwitted her maid, a crook played by Esther Nina Lovell, and her accomplice, played by Magnus Aasheim. Myrtle Woodend was cast as the invalid's nurse, and Fred Gray and Arthur Dahlman as policemen.

The club also presented "Playgoers" during the summer quarter.

The Senior Play

"The New Lady Bantock" was presented Monday, June 8, by the class of 1931. This is a clever four-act comedy with a very unusual plot written by Jerome K. Jerome.

Fanny, a former actress, becomes the bride of Lord Bantock much to the consternation of his household. Bennett, the butler, and the other servants are very critical of Fanny, and her life is made miserable by them for some time. The two aunts of Lord Bantock make the situation still more difficult for Lady Bantock.

Through the aid of her former theatrical manager and chorus girl friends, Fanny solves the servant problem.

The parts were well interpreted by the following cast:

Lady Bantock	Elizabeth Hopkins
Lord Bantock	Albert Comer
Martin Bennet	Leo Musburger
Mrs. Bennet	Dola Nash
Jane Bennet	Eileen Raymond
Ernest Bennet	Hallie Pasley
Honorla Bennet	Anna Mautz
The Misses Wetherell.....	Hellen Dean, Mabel Camp
Dr. Freemantle	Bill Anderson
George Newte	Bill Wolverton

Chorus Girls

Ellen Jenkins	Jane Herndon
Alberta Shepherd	Barbara Tower
Bernice Carkeet

This play was presented under the direction of Miss Myrtle Savidge, assisted by Anna Mautz.

Little Symphony Orchestra

In the autumn quarter Miss Frances Robinson organized a Little Symphony Orchestra at the Montana State Normal College. Members of the College faculty and student-body made up the personnel of the orchestra. College students received credit for their work.

The orchestra displayed remarkable ability and unusual talent in the many varied programs it gave. Its first appearance was on December 12, 1930, when the Gargoyles presented their three-act comedy, "Skidding." The orchestra played between acts on Gargoyle Comedy Night and also when the Senior play was given.

During the spring quarter a Little Symphony Concert was given in the Normal College auditorium before a large and appreciative audience. The concert program was as follows:

- I SuiteSchubert
 - March Heroique
 - Minuet from Violin Sonata
 - Theme from Overture to "Rosamunde"
 - Am Meer (By the Sea)
 - Ballet Music from "Rosamunde"

State Normal College of the University of Montana

The State Normal College of the University of Montana offers superior facilities for professional training. Its graduates are eagerly sought. If after the completion of the two years' course a graduate wishes to teach, a position is usually waiting. If it is desired to continue in school, full credit for Normal College work is given in the University institutions or in universities not located in this state. In the usual four years of a college course a Normal diploma and a degree may both be secured, no loss resulting from transfer of credits. The Normal College confers the degree Bachelor of Education.

Agnes Barrett: You say you like to read a lot; how do you like O'Henry?

Katherine Hench: Not so well, the peanuts get in my teeth.

Alice Molliet: Each night before retiring I write down my thoughts in a little notebook.

Clara Barber: Indeed, and how long have you been doing this?

Alice: About three years.

Clara: Then you must have the first page nearly filled by this time.

Harold Grady: That song always moves me.

Hazel Berland: If I'd known that I would have sung it an hour ago.

Paul Walker: What do I pay for a marriage license?

Clerk: Well, you pay for it on the installment plan, one dollar down and your entire salary each month for the rest of your life.

Advice is the most worthless commodity in the world. Those who might profit by it don't need it, and those who do need it won't profit by it; if they could, they wouldn't need it.

Gladys Whitlach: Why is Bessie called a man hater?

Lois Stoecker: Because she hates to be without 'em.

He was seated in the parlor,
And he said unto the light,
"Either you or I, old fellow,
Will be turned down tonight."

Albert Comer: Then I went home to take care of all the little incidents.

Harriett Canavan: Why, I didn't know you were married.

Dale Medsker: I can't marry you. I have a clause in my contract.

Elsie Isaacson: That's all right. My father's a surgeon.

Members of Professor Clark's eight o'clock class were always late. He was much annoyed by some of the pupils ascending the stairs puffing and panting as though tired out. He determined to put a stop to this, and one day he met them as they came into the room, and thus admonished them: "See here, young ladies; you are making altogether too much noise, and hereafter when you come into the classroom I want you to leave your puffs and pants outside."

H. Hays: Good-looking car you have there. What's the most you ever get out of it?

M. Aasheim: Six times in one mile.

Mr. Light, who was playing with a foursome, knocked his ball into the rough. After watching the men look for it for about an hour Mrs. Free came out and said, "Is it fair to tell the other side where it is?"

Irate Father: I can see right through that chorus girl's intrigue.
Lovesick Son: I know, Dad, but they all dress that way nowadays.

Oleta Carmin (reading aloud): John appeared presently in an immaculate evening dress. What does immaculate mean?
Dot Stoner: No gravy spots on it.

Miss Lewis: Can you tell me one use of cow-hide?

Mary Grant: Er-Ah-yes madam. It keeps the cow together.

Ed. Williams: I'm quite a near neighbor of you now, I'm living just across the river.

A. Olsen: I hope you'll drop in some day.

Mr. Hazelbaker: How many students are there at your college?

Dr. Davis: Oh, about one in every ten.

Mr. Jordan: A fool can ask more questions than a wise man can answer.

Bill W.: No wonder so many of us flunk in our exams.

Bill Clark: Thinking about me?

A. Graham: Oh, was I laughing? Pardon me.

Doctor: Your throat is in a bad state. Have you ever tried gargling with salt water?

Donald Blair: Yes, I've been shipwrecked a dozen times.

Policeman: Why are you racing through the town at this rate?

Bill A.: My brake is out of order, and I want to get home before there is an accident.

Mrs. Light: Well, my silence was awfully embarrassing to me.

Bill W.: Yes, Dad, I am a big gun at the school.

Dad: Then why don't I hear better reports?

"Our daughter has disappeared," groaned mother.

"I'm not surprised," retorted Grandma, "I always thought no good would come of her using so much vanishing cream."

"Do you think," said a meek and submissive husband, turning like the proverbial worm, "that you rule the whole of the universe?"

"No," replied his wife, with a toss of her head; "but I rule the first letter of it!"

Waiter: Simply killing me, sir.

“There is a tide in the affairs of men which, taken at the flood, leads on to fortune.”—Shakespeare.

The tide of opportunity is at the flood for young men and women now starting in the business life.

Start by forming business-like habits. Intelligent saving leads to thrift and eventually leads to prosperity.

A Savings Account should be started in a bank and into it should be put a definite portion of each month's returns. It will work for you by drawing interest.

Consult your banker in regard to savings and investment. He will be pleased to advise with you.

This bank has served the public successfully for thirty years. Its services are offered to you.

Louis: Do, dear, they are for tomorrow night.

"Mose, do you know what the A. D. on the cornerstone of that building stands for?"

"Yes, sah. It stands for 'All Done'."

"Was the professor absent-minded at his daughter's wedding?"

"Not more than usual. He thanked his new son-in-law for coming all the way from his provincial home to attend the gathering."

Officer: Ignorance is no excuse.

A bad thing to remember is a good thing to forget.

An old fashioned man, not very well versed in etiquette, visited his son at college one day. There he was invited to attend a formal dinner. When coffee was served, he poured the hot coffee from his cup into the saucer.

"Why did you do that, Father?"

The old man answered:—"You go to college and don't even know that. Why, I do it to cool the coffee."
